

Jones Group Consulting has special expertise in showing clients what to do with their data (both offline and online data) in order to market smarter.

Our beliefs focus on data as the foundation for customer intelligence; and, customer intelligence as the foundation for leading edge sales and marketing strategies. We play a leadership role in developing ways to combine both on line and off line data for competitive strategies.

Our core team is made up of Database Marketing strategists and statisticians. Our statisticians have 20+ years in direct marketing applications for predictive modeling development with equal strengths in Business to Consumer and Business to Business, which is rare in the industry.

This team performs Data Discovery assignments that result in Advanced Analytic Plans detailing how to use your data to provide intelligence for – primarily, customer segmentation strategies, retention strategies, cross sell strategies, up sell strategies and Win back strategies.

I. Database Marketing Strategic Consulting:

Getting Started

1. Jones Group consulting works on a monthly retainer and/or on a project by project basis.
2. Clients traditionally start by engaging us for a business objective/solution session involving how to become more customer-centric; or, how to use their data; or, how to improve an existing direct marketing program. And, discussions regarding a client's 'wish list' for becoming more customer-centric and learning how to engage their customers to build relationships through multi-channel strategies, with the right customers, to enhance their marketing approach.

This session includes a detailed document, or Roadmap, recommending solutions to business problems discussed. (Approx. $5,000) NOTE: Travel expenses are OOP and reimbursed by the client, with airfare booked by the client to take advantage of client travel agent relationships and discounts.

3. Followed by a Data Discovery session which includes reviewing all current offline and/or online data stored and creating a detailed Advanced Analytic Plan that recommends what kinds of analysis could be done with the client data to derive new customer intelligence that will drive new customer relationship strategies. (Approx. $5,000)
4. At this phase the client usually engages the Jones Group consulting team either on a per project basis or monthly retainer to accomplish a specific goal or set of goals.
